11 REVEALING THE INVISIBLE: THE HISTORY OF GLASS AND THE MICROSCOPE

Glass made it possible for scientists and artists to see tiny living creatures once invisible to the human eye. Revealing the Invisible tells the stories of scientists' and artists' exploration of the microscopic world between the 1600s and the late 1800s. This exhibit is open every day 9 am - 5 pm through March 19, 2017, in The Rakow Research Library.
